

CHRISTOPHER NOWINSKI

Author of Head Games: Football's Concussion Crisis

President of the Sports Legacy Institute, Health Care Consultant

Conquering Concussions - Protecting Youth Athletes

Endorsements

In his groundbreaking presentation Conquering Concussions, Chris Nowinski engages audience members of all ages with his compelling story and charismatic delivery. Chris' shocking concussion research is a call to arms for trainers, teachers, coaches, and parents seeking to protect our youth's best interests both in and out of the sports arena. At the same time, Chris educates students and athletes how to take responsibility for their health and future by advocating for themselves and their peers. Most importantly, Chris teaches by his own example, encouraging audience members to develop talents, pursue passions, and persevere through challenging circumstances in order to make a difference.

Melissa D. Panchuck, MEd.
Teaching and Residential Faculty
The Fessenden School
West Newton, MA 02465
panchuck@alumni.brown.edu

I have asked Chris on several occasions to speak to large audiences of children regarding the effects of concussions. When Chris speaks the audience is silent and all eyes focus on him. He draws the listener in so that they truly understand the depth and content of his important talk. I recommend that all schools access Chris for their own educational purposes as they will clearly benefit from his expertise on this most important topic.

Beth A. Adams M.Ed LRC
Neurotrauma Rehabilitation Specialist
www.concussionrehab.com
(978)-741-0100

With his exhaustive research on athletic concussion that resulted in his book Head Games, Chris Nowinski has been a highly acclaimed speaker at multiple sports medicine meetings that I have chaired, most recently in October of 2006 as the keynote speaker for the Massachusetts Brain Injury Association Fall Sports Conference. He is an authority with unique insight on the subject of athletic concussion.

Robert C. Cantu, M.D., F.A.C.S., F.A.C.S.M.